My grandfather, Constantinos Micholopoulos, established Mitchell's in 1906 at 100 Wylie Avenue. (Formerly the upper lot of Mellon Arena). It was listed in the 1906 Pittsburgh City directory as a 'Dining Room'. A Greek sign painter couldn't fit "Micholopoulos' Dining Room" on the front window, so Constantinos went to the city directory and picked out a shorter, more American sounding name. That name was Mitchell.

From Wylie Avenue, my grandfather moved to Old Court Place (near the present location of the Carlton Restaurant). In 1978, my Pop moved to our final location here on Ross Street.

Mitchell's has now served Downtown Pittsburgh for over a century. I have strived to continue the principles of my 'Papoo' and Pop: "Good home cooked meals, served fast and friendly, at a reasonable price." These principles, along with you, our loyal customer, have enabled us to become and remain the oldest established restaurant in Pittsburgh.

Thank you for your patronage... Jim Mitchell
